... A tongue : an Identity ...

Secret beyond the tremendous augment of nations lurks in the acts of veneration and perfect custody to their tongue and they give priority to cultivating and studying it descriptively, historically, contrastively and comparatively, as it is their sole rapport of communication, essential interaction instrument and a schema to manifest their emotion, intention and targets.

By way of contrast, there is another schema some modest civilized countries, not highly celebrated with civilization as the developed ones, such countries never pay a sod of custody to their tongue, or rather they do adopt the tongue of these developed countries as much as possible as to tinge their dialect with the civilization of the target tongue.

For our Arabic tongue there is many an angle we are to ponder over and over; beyond the abovementioned reasons, it is the tongue of our religion, hereafter land, paradise, and the lighthouse to our sparkling past.
